
Eleventh Annual International Invitational Meeting of The Brunswik Society

Saturday, November 11, 1995, San Fernando Room, Westin Bonaventure Hotel, Los Angeles

Agenda

8:00 - 8:30 Continental Breakfast

8:30 - 10:00 Morning Session I

- Welcome
Tom Stewart and Jeryl Mumpower
- Cues and components in multiattribute evaluation
Terry Connolly
- Accuracy of personality judgment
David Funder
- The case for non-representative design: or, why the world will always look simple to a Brunswikian
Gary McClelland

10:00 - 10:30 Break

10:30 - 12:00 Morning Session II

- Thorns, ruts and resting places on the road less travelled by: Some robust problems and sickly solutions in dynamic decision making
Alex Wearing
- Experts create their own cues: the need for a closed-loop account of dynamic judgment and decision making
Alex Kirlik
- Aging and MCPL: The case of inverse relations. CFB(TI) vs. OFB
G rard Chasseigne

12:00 - 1:30 Lunch (on your own)

1:30 - 3:00 Afternoon session I

- The lens model and the investigation of small group judgment
Dan Gigone
- Modeling confidence judgments: Error, bias, and a lens model component
Claudia Gonzalez-Vallejo

- The recognition of domestic violence
Robert Hamm

3:00 - 3:30 Break

3:30 - 4:30 Afternoon Session II

- Use of automated cues in the cockpit
Kathy Mosier
- Physicians' judgments of the likelihood of key medical outcomes conditional on patient therapy
Roy Poses
- The place of Brunswikian theory in evolutionary psychology
Kenneth Hammond (unfortunately, Professor Hammond was unable to attend due to illness)
- Summary
Jeryl Mumpower and Tom Stewart

4:45 Adjourn 🏠